

In rehab for months now, Pasha is starting to walk (on the left). With the laser therapy, she has a better chance of getting rid of her wheelchair. Bunny's legs are now about an inch from touching the floor--and with help from Dr. Kainer and the Erchonia laser, just maybe she could steer herself in her chair and have a little bit of independence...

And as if Pasha knew I was writing about her, just this minute she came over and stood up before me!

Although she can only stand for 20-30 seconds, long enough to get a treat or two or a drink of water...a miracle is in the works. Her nerves are regenerating! Two years ago, with a severed spinal cord, her family was encouraged to euthanize her. Instead, they opted for back surgery and physical therapy.

With your help, we have continued that--when a dog who had been paralyzed in her hind area--wagged her tail at me! I was stunned the first time it happened--and although it happens sporadically, every single time, I am so joyful and excited. It is amazing. Just amazing. Pasha has a chance to be wheelchair "free" if we keep going with rehab and the cold laser.

If you want to sponsor her rehab visits (we are in arrears right now), I would be grateful if you would call Dr. Wall's office, 281-298-5509 and place a credit on her account.

Of course, if you want to make a general--or specific donation--you can use the new online donation link on our Rescue Ranch website/How To Help page. Please send me an email when you make a donation so I can acknowledge that it arrived. My email is: animalrescuevolunteer@yahoo.com (I am a little behind on replies but should catch up this week. Please forgive me...)
