Sarah the Kangaroo
April 2013

Here are pictures of me using the laser on Sarah the Kangaroo. I was able to adjust her afterwards but did not get a photo of that. You can see the red laser beam across her mid section and down onto a brown spot that is a lesion on her pouch. The lesion was granulomatous and is now drying up and going away. She is also hopping again like a normal kangaroo. She has done that in a long time. You can also see my new red laser enhancement glasses.
